Interactive Music & Movement Classes

Boost development and activate imagination with music.

Kindermusik®, the world's leading provider of music and movement education for young children, offers virtual and in-person classes focused on steady, healthy growth from birth through age six. Since 1978, our research-based music program has used the power and joy of song, instrument play, parent/child bonding, and movement to help maximize whole-child development and establish a lifetime love of learning.

Kindermusik supports developmental milestones and strengthens family bonds.

Nurture the whole child.

Our program boosts language skills, confidence, independence, social-emotional skills, and self-control. For babies and toddlers, Kindermusik classes target movement (fine motor and whole body), expressive and receptive language, sensory skills, and more. The music is the “active ingredient” that instills joy, lasting memories, and positive results.

Bring families together.

Kindermusik classes are designed to include families, and help parents and caregivers continue the experience at home. Digital music access, developmental tips, and take-home activities elevate bonding, foster social-emotional growth, and promote creative expression.

I have witnessed the effectiveness and quality of Kindermusik first hand. Kindermusik is especially helpful for developing school readiness and pre-literacy skills in all young children, and particularly young at-risk children. I've never seen another program out there that compares.

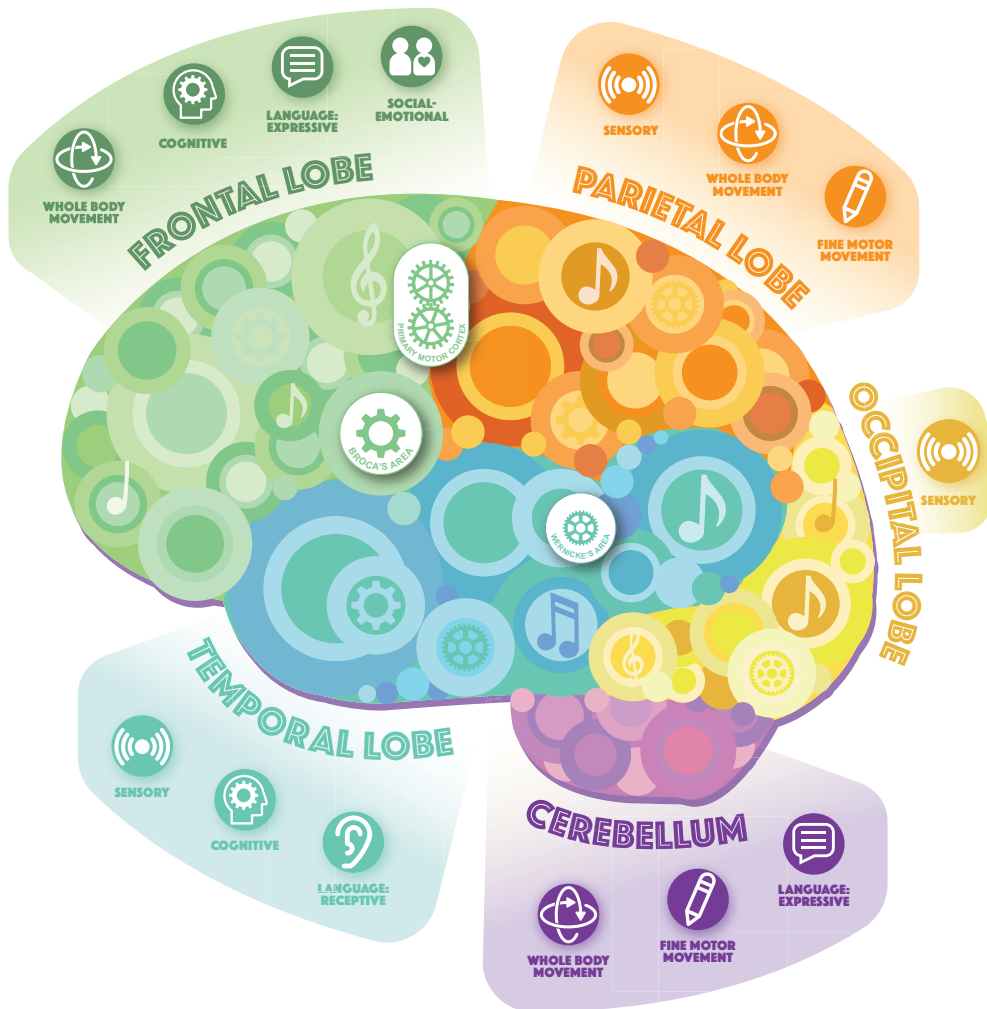

– Kim Stadler Executive Director and Educator for Arts Refreshing the Soul

Music empowers young learners.

Kindermusik lights up the brain...

Music helps children's neurons make the connections needed for virtually every kind of development. Years of clinical research prove it, and Kindermusik's curriculum is built around those findings. We also know that when young children are consistently engaged with music in an age-appropriate, socially accepting environment, developmental benefits multiply.

...which fuels key skill development.

Music and movement spark joy while also giving the brain and body a complete workout. Kindermusik classes are designed to encourage multisensory learning, stimulating multiple areas of the brain at once. With Kindermusik, we're developing far more than just music skills—we're priming children for success in school and in life.

We've seen the growth...once they started participating in Kindermusik, our students [increased] their language vocabulary.
